

ARMY OF POTOMAC IN BURLINGTON FOR ANNUAL REUNION

General Theodore S. Peck Elected President of the Society—President Benton of the University of Vermont in Address Urges a Sane Preparedness against the Coming of the Day When Universal Disarmament Will Make War Impossible—Miss Theodora Peck Reads Poem on "The Soul of Gettysburg"—Banquet and Many Other Meetings.

The forty-third annual reunion of the Society of the Army of the Potomac was held in this city Thursday and Friday. The business meetings were held at the city hall in the morning, at which time General Theodore S. Peck, this city, was elected president of the Society of the Army of the Potomac as its vice-president of the Military Order of the Medal of Honor, of which General Horatio C. King of Brooklyn, secretary of the Potomac society, was elected president. There were annual reunions of various corps societies in the morning, and in the afternoon public exercises were held in the large State Church at which President Guy Potter Benton of the University of Vermont delivered the oration of the day and Miss Theodora Peck read a poem. In the evening the annual banquet was served at the Van Ness House. The post-prandial exercises presided over by Colonel Andrew Cowan, retiring president of the Society of the Army of the Potomac.

ARMY OF THE POTOMAC.

General T. S. Peck of This City Elected President.

The business meeting of the Society of the Army of the Potomac was held at 11 o'clock at the city hall, Col. Andrew Cowan, president of the society, presiding. There were nearly a hundred of the members, of whom were the 500 present, as well as several ladies. Gen. T. S. Peck of this city was unanimously elected president of the society for the ensuing year.

The meeting was opened with prayer by the chaplain, the Rev. W. S. Byer, after which Gen. Horatio C. King, secretary, offered his annual report, which was accepted and adopted. The report of the treasurer, Charles A. Shaw, showed a balance in the treasury of $1,152.32.

Then followed the reading of telegrams and letters of regret from those unable to attend the meeting. The secretary, offered his annual report, which was accepted and adopted. These communications, read by the secretary, included regrets from Sen. Woodrow Wilson, Charles E. Hughes, Senator W. P. Dillingham, Theodore Roosevelt, Gen. Lewis A. Hart, Congressman Frank L. Greene, R. Crittenden, Mabel C. King and others.

A committee of five was appointed to decide upon the next place of meeting of the society and in its report recommended that the next place of meeting be held in connection with the dedication of the Grant memorial at Washington, if that memorial is completed during the year. The next place was left to the officers of the organization to decide upon.

When the nomination for president was opened each corps and department society was called upon to put the nomination of the name which had been decided upon by their meeting. The nominees were: Gen. T. S. Peck of this city, who was elected unanimously, one ballot in each by the secretary, Colonel Cowan, who has been president since 1911, declining to serve another term. A board of vice-presidents is made of one man from each of the corps.

First corps, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; second, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; third, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; fourth, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; fifth, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; sixth, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; seventh, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; eighth, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; ninth, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; tenth, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; eleventh, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; twelfth, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; thirteenth, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; fourteenth, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; fifteenth, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; sixteenth, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; seventeenth, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; eighteenth, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; nineteenth, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; twentieth, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; twenty-first, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; twenty-second, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; twenty-third, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; twenty-fourth, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; twenty-fifth, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; twenty-sixth, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; twenty-seventh, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; twenty-eighth, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; twenty-ninth, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; thirtieth, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; thirty-first, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; thirty-second, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; thirty-third, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; thirty-fourth, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; thirty-fifth, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; thirty-sixth, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; thirty-seventh, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; thirty-eighth, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; thirty-ninth, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; fortieth, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; forty-first, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; forty-second, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; forty-third, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; forty-fourth, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; forty-fifth, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; forty-sixth, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; forty-seventh, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; forty-eighth, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; forty-ninth, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; fiftieth, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; fifty-first, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; fifty-second, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; fifty-third, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; fifty-fourth, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; fifty-fifth, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; fifty-sixth, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; fifty-seventh, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; fifty-eighth, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; fifty-ninth, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; sixtieth, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; sixty-first, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; sixty-second, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; sixty-third, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; sixty-fourth, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; sixty-fifth, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; sixty-sixth, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; sixty-seventh, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; sixty-eighth, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; sixty-ninth, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; seventieth, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; seventy-first, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; seventy-second, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; seventy-third, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; seventy-fourth, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; seventy-fifth, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; seventy-sixth, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; seventy-seventh, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; seventy-eighth, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; seventy-ninth, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; eightieth, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; eighty-first, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; eighty-second, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; eighty-third, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; eighty-fourth, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; eighty-fifth, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; eighty-sixth, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; eighty-seventh, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; eighty-eighth, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; eighty-ninth, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; ninetieth, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; ninety-first, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; ninety-second, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; ninety-third, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; ninety-fourth, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; ninety-fifth, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; ninety-sixth, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; ninety-seventh, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; ninety-eighth, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; ninety-ninth, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.; one hundredth, Major W. H. Pecklyn, N. Y.

He is a charter member of the Vermont Commandery, Military Order of the Loyal Legion of the United States, and was its commander in 1902-3. Was vice-president general, also historian general, National Society, Sons of the American Revolution, first governor of the Vermont Society of Colonial Wars; June 19, 1909, appointed deputy governor general for the State of Vermont, General Society of Colonial Wars; commander of the Medal of Honor Legion of the United States in 1896-1900. In 1891 appointed by President Harrison a member of the board of visitors at the United States Military Academy at West Point, N. Y. White adjutant general of Vermont, in 1898 he mobilized and equipped the First Regiment Infantry, Vermont Volunteers, which rendezvoused on the State permanent camp ground near Fort Ethan Allen, Vt., between the 14th and 17th of May, 1898, and was mustered into the United States service May 15, 1898, proceeding to Chickamauga, Ga., on the 21st, and returning there being mustered out on the 7th of November, 1898. He is a member of the Society of Foreign Wars and Spanish-American War Veterans, also of the Military Order of the Medal of Honor. The honorary degree of master of arts has been conferred upon him by Norwich University.

His residence since the war has been Burlington, Vt., and his business that of general insurance, the agency having been established in 1868. He is a member of the Algonquin and Ethan Allen clubs of Burlington, University club of Washington, D. C., and the Army and Navy club of New York city, but has never held any civic office.

On the 25th of October, 1879, in New York city, he married Agnes Louisa Leslie of Toronto, Ont., daughter of William Leslie and Louisa M. Wahl, and has one child, Theodora Agnes Peck, born in Burlington, Vt., October 25, 1882. Miss Peck is a member of the second class, Military Order of the Medal of Honor, and has the distinction of being No. 1 in this class. At the meeting of the Society of the Army of the Potomac held in Utica, N. Y., in 1891, she read an original poem entitled "The Bivouac," and is the only woman who is a member of that distinguished society. She is the author of "Hester of the Green," and "The Sword of Dundee," and "White Day," William Leslie and his brother, James, were the original owners and proprietors of the "Toronto Examiner," and the great liberal paper of Canada, "The Toronto Globe."

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED.

The following resolution was adopted and a copy ordered sent to President Wilson:

Soldiers who have witnessed the ravages and horrors of war are in favor of peace, but it must be peace with honor to the nation. A sane preparedness is the surest preparation for peace and this society fully endorses the steps now being made and to be made to safeguard this country against attacks from within or without.

Another resolution adopted was one extending the thanks of the association to Guy Potter Benton, president of the day, and to Miss Theodora Peck, the poetess. This resolution also made President Benton an honorary member and called for the presentation of badges to both President Benton and Miss Peck, who has been an honorary member since 1911, when she was made such at the annual reunion at Utica, N. Y.

Another resolution adopted thanked the Merchants' association committee who provided entertainment for the members of the society, and the citizens of Burlington for their warm reception and entertainment, especially for the ladies who worked with so much zeal and enthusiasm to make the meeting pleasant. This resolution also spoke of the two former reunions held in this city and of the pleasant remembrances of them in the minds of the members.

Another resolution called for the publication of the manuscript of the late Gen. E. A. Cushman, which contains an account of the Antietam campaign with maps, etc., by the Congress of the United States and that the society urge Congress to publish them.

A resolution offered by General Peck and which was adopted changes the constitution so that the male next of kin of the members of the Army of the Potomac may join the society. This includes the women kin who may become collateral.

Miss Helen McCarthy of Washington, D. C., was elected an honorary member immediately following the adoption of this resolution. Miss McCarthy is a member of the society, Miss Peck being the first.

The following resolution was tabled: WHEREAS A bill is in before Congress for increasing the income tax; be it

RESOLVED, That we commend to Congress that a provision accompany the bill exempting from its requirements all officers and soldiers who served during the Civil War.

PUBLIC EXERCISES.

Address by President Benton and Poem by Miss Peck.

The public exercises of the day were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck. The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.

The exercises were held at the College Street Church, the interior of which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The exercises were presided over by President Guy Potter Benton, who read the oration of the day, "The Soul of Gettysburg," by Miss Theodora Peck.